Line-View

Displays the test results in chronological order on a single screen, such as images, physiological test, health checkup, document, scanned data.

Integration and Centralized Management of department systems

FORZ propose individual systems for each department and the integration of those systems.

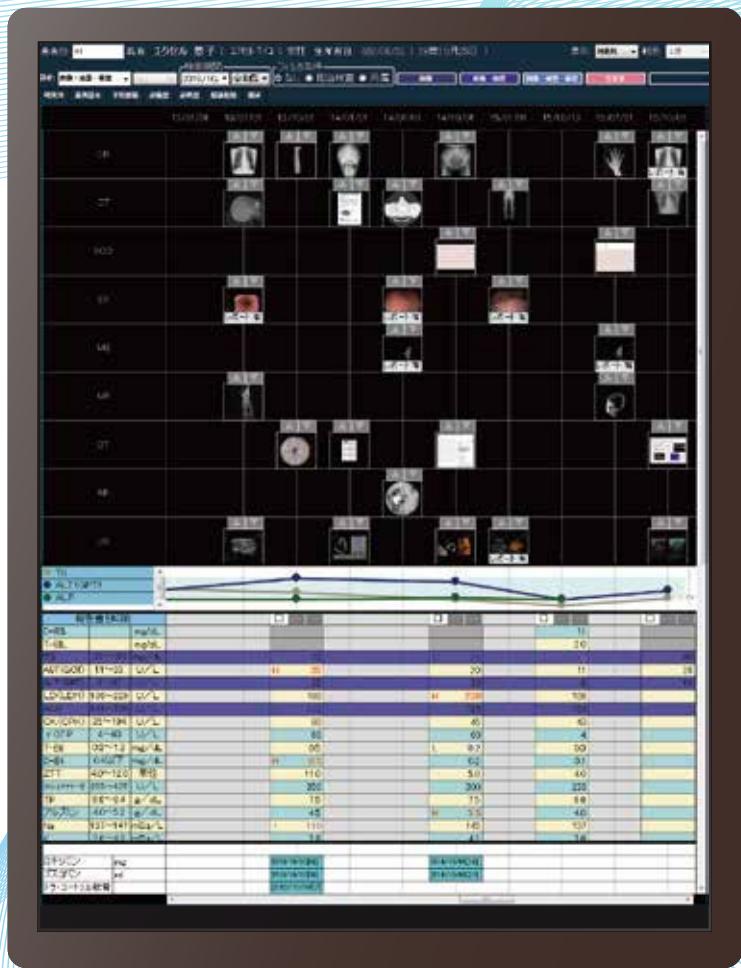

Centralise department servers and systems that previously required separate purchases and maintenance.

Systems can be incrementally added and integrated as needed, in line with updates or new implementations of each department system.

Line-View

Line-View displays result data chronologically, without the need to launch various systems.
